LOOKOUT FOR A MINIATURE BALLOON

Keep a sharp lookout for a miniature balloon, any time after May 23. If you find one capture it, it may be worth money to you.

The balloon will carry a pennant bearing on one side the name of the San Diego Ad club, and on the other The San Diego 1913 Exposition, and it will have come from San Diego, where ten thousand of them are to be released "Balloon Day," May 23.

The Ad club will offer a reward for the return of the balloon which has traveled the greatest distance from San Diego, in addition to which a number of merchants, whose cards will also be carried by the miniature balloons, will pay various rewards for the return of their cards.

The small balloons are not the toy affairs made of rubber, commonly sold to children by street peddlers, but are made of regulation aeronautical silk, and are provided with a net, being in every respect regular air going balloons. The balloons are ten inches in diameter, and it is quite likely some of them may be picked up or captured a long way from the starting point.

In place of the regulation car, carried by large passenger balloons, the Ad club traveler will carry the Exposition and Ad club pennant, and a small rack for the cards of the prize-giving merchants.

It will be impossible for the club to be victimized in the collection of a reward not earned under the terms of the offer, owing to a keying of words and letters carried by the little traveler, which will give the fortunate finder the necessary evidence of his good faith in the collection of his prize money.

Some months ago, while a circus was visiting San Diego, a traveler bought a common toy balloon to which he attached his card, and liberated. Later this balloon was captured at Portland, Ore., and the traveler who had released it in San Diego, received his card and a letter from the person who captured it in the "City of Roses." This gave the San Diego Ad club its cue to the present "Balloon Day," but a much better grade of balloon was decided upon, and ten thousand of them contracted for.

BOYS DEMAND A HOLIDAY TO CELEBRATE

By the one-sided score of 23 to 5, the Central Junior High school defeated the North Juniors in a game of baseball last evening and won the school pennant.

The girls of the same school won the pennant in the volleyball series and the two victories filled the students with such enthusiasm that a holiday was demanded in order that the events be celebrated in a fitting manner.

Not meeting with success in making their demands on the principal, a delegation of 50 boys called on Superintendent J. M. Mills at the city hall and addressed him in such a manner that he could not refuse. The superintendent returned to the school with the boys and announced that the day was a holiday and for celebration purposes only.

From start to finish yesterday the game was never in doubt. There were students from both schools on the grounds and the rooting was a feature.

The line-up:
Central: Preshaw, Heywood, Fox, Allison, Dundas, Pickett, Carney, Rischel, Faulk.
North: Musgrave, Doon, Cross, Pile, Dice, Ewing, Doon, Cross, Elliot, Jones, Peterson.

SURPRISED FRIENDS.

After a courtship of two or three months Mr. E. D. Williams and Miss Helen Hinkel surprised their friends by slipping off to Brigham City Wednesday where they listened to the words necessary to start them off on a matrimonial career. It was the understanding among intimate friends that the wedding was to take place the latter part of June or the first of July.

Miss Hinkel has long been a resident of Ogden and has been active in the social life of the city.

Mr. Williams has been making his home in Ogden for the last five years. He has been superintendent of the Ogden branch of the International Correspondence school, and through his close attention to duty, his straightforward habits and congenial temperament he has allied himself to a great many of the active business and professional men of the city.

After an extended honeymoon trip through the Yellowstone National park and into Canada they will be at home to their many friends at 17th street and Hudson avenue, Ogden, Utah.

FEDERAL AID IS CALLED OFF BY LETTER

Chairman Moroni Skeen of the county board of commissioners was disappointed this morning when he received a communication from State Engineer W. D. Beers announcing that the Postmaster General had communicated to Governor William Spry that the appropriation of November 20, 1912, to aid in the improving of public highways had been withdrawn.

The engineer recommended that the commissioners that they take no further steps toward the improvement of the Hooper postal route until such time as the state road commission may formulate some plan of action. Following is the communication from Postmaster General A. S. Burleson:

"It has been decided to revise the plan tentatively agreed up for the extension of federal aid in the improvement of public highways."

"The offer of federal aid extended to the state of Utah in the joint letter addressed by the postmaster general and the secretary of agriculture, under date of November 20, 1912, is, therefore, withdrawn."

The offer made by the postmaster general was to the effect that a certain amount of money was to be extended to Utah for the betterment of the postal free delivery routes and Hooper was selected as one of the routes to be benefited. That district to come into possession of $10,000 of government money for the improvement, a like sum to be appropriated by the county. The county appropriation was immediately made and it had been confidently expected that active operations in road building would begin this season.
